Detailed Action

The following is responsive to the preliminary amendment received July 8, 2003.

Claims 1-4 and 9-18 are cancelled. No new claims are added.

Claims 5-8 are currently pending.

Information Disclosure Statement

Applicant's Information Disclosure Statement received Aug. 21, 2003 has been considered. Please refer to Applicant's copy of the 1449 submitted herewith.

Claim Rejection(s)—35 USC 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1614

1. Claims 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Serhan 6,653,493.

Serhan discloses methods for treating cell proliferative disorders such as tumors, carcinomas, sarcomas, etc. Specifically, Serhan teaches a method of administering an effective amount of a lipoxin-A4 compound (LXA₄ or 15-epi-lipoxin-A₄ derivatives) to a subject in need of treatment for abnormal cell proliferation. The effective amount of the compound administered is the amount, which is required to assure sufficient exposure of the cell population being treated. Please see col. 5-6; col. 8, lines 42-47; col. 34, lines 64-67.

Serhan does not specifically disclose treating restenosis as the cell proliferative disorder; however, the Examiner refers to col. 35, lines 10-12, where Serhan discloses that, alternatively, target cells to be contacted with the lipoxin-A4 compounds can be undergoing abnormal cell proliferation in response to a stimulus such as restenosis.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the treatment methods disclosed in Serhan to also include treatment of a patient suffering or susceptible to restenosis, especially after angioplasty, because Serhan suggests that restenosis, another type of cell proliferative disorder, can be treated with the lipoxin-A4 compounds. Thus, in view of such a suggestion, one of ordinary skill in the art would reasonably expect lipoxin-A4 compounds to inhibit or reduce restenosis in a patient who has undergone angioplasty.

Conclusion

Claims 5-8 are rejected.
